"TURN DOWN" FOR GOMPERS TERMED CHICAGO AFFAIRS

Fitzpatrick at Labor Convention Sounds New Note.

GOMPERS INTERVENES

Quarrel In Progress at A. F. O. L. Meet In Montreal.

Montreal, Que., June 12.—Supporters of the movement for a labor party in politics are making all possible capital out of developments at the Chicago convention which they term a "turn down" for President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor.

John Fitzpatrick, leader of the movement, predicted today that, before the end of the year, the American Federation of Labor will be compelled to take steps to organize a national labor party.

It is evident that Gompers is counting upon the influence of William Jennings Bryan to get a satisfactory labor plank into the Democratic platform at San Francisco.

Belief is expressed in some quarters that, if the Democrats do not insert a platform that meets the wishes of organized labor, Gompers will have to withdraw his opposition to the formation of a labor party. Gompers intervened today to prevent the charges and counter charges in the quarrel between the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the committee of 24 which directed the steel strike from being aired on the floor of the convention. President Gompers today conferred with five international presidents in an effort to effect a compromise. The presidents were: W. H. Johnson, of the International Machinists Union; S. H. Heberling, of the Switchmen; Charles H. Moyer, of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers; J. P. Noonan, of the Electrical Workers; and A. C. Linn, of the foundry workers.

T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's Union held out hope that the long and costly strike in New York harbor will soon be settled and that it will not spread to ocean going ships.

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the International Teamsters Union and treasurer of the A. F. of L., said that organized labor would back up the longshoremen.

Trouble was threatened at a mass meeting of Irish sympathizers last night when demands were made for the removal of the British flag from the hall. Frank P. Walsh addressed the meeting.

A congressional investigation of conditions in the West Virginia coal fields was demanded in a resolution today. It accused coal companies of importing gunmen to intimidate union miners.

There were indications that the resolution endorsing the Plumb railroad plan would be rejected in the majority report of the committee on resolutions. The opposition of President Gompers was held responsible.

MEXICO TO MOVE TO CRUSH BOLSHEVIK PLANS IN COUNTRY

Vigorous Crusade Will Be Started To End Campaign.

Mexico City, June 12.—A vigorous crusade will be started at once to crush bolshevik agitations, in Mexico, it was announced today by advisers to Provisional President Adolfo de la Huerta. Officials declared that bolshevik and I. W. W. agents would be summarily dealt with.

According to the authorities many of the American draft dodgers who fled into Mexico have been taking an active part in spreading red propaganda. The Mexican police claim to know all the American war slackers in Mexico and it is possible that they may be arrested soon and deported to the United States as undesirable aliens.

Provisional President De la Huerta has signed a decree ordering the restoration to their owners of all properties, including mines, timber and ranch lands, confiscated by the several Mexican governments since 1910. It was announced that the return will be affected as soon as documentary evidence is produced relative to authentic ownership.

Oscar K. Goll, International News Service correspondent, has been appointed member of the press commission that will make an investigation into the death of Venustiano Carranza. The commission is expected to leave Mexico City in a few days.

GOV. FRANK O. LOWDEN.

NINE DROWNED AS BOAT IS CAPSIZED BY STORM IN EAST

Philadelphia, Pa., June 12.—Overturned in the fury of a sudden squall and terrific electrical storm, Eagle boat 25 of the U. S. Navy, which capsized late yesterday off the jetty between Delaware City and New Castle, Del., took a toll of nine lives, according to reports today.

Fifty eight officers and men were aboard and all of these were rescued except eight seamen, who are believed to have drowned. Charles Brandt, who was rescued from the hold of the overturned craft, died later as a result of inhaling gas fumes.

The survivors owe their escape to the appearance of two steamships and a number of fishing craft that put out from New Castle, during the height of the storm and saved a number of seamen who were fast drifting out to sea.

HARDING FILES DECLARATION OF HIS CANDIDACY

Columbus, O., June 12.—Just a few minutes before midnight, the final time for filing, George B. Harris, of Cleveland, filed with the secretary of state Senator Warren G. Harding's declaration as a candidate for the Republican nomination to succeed himself as a senator from Ohio.

Senator Harding, in the midst of the fight for the Republican presidential nomination at Chicago, declared that he was in the presidential campaign to the "finish" and that the filing of his senatorial candidacy did not alter his status.

CONDUCTS EXAM. OF RECORDS

E. L. Hansell, from the State Bureau of Accountancy and Supervision of Public Offices who has been conducting an examination of the village and justice records of the peace records completed his work Saturday, when he finished the examination in the office of Magistrate J. E. Jones.

AUSTRIAN CABINET UITS

Vienna, June 12.—The Austrian cabinet, headed by Dr. Karl Renner as chancellor, who has held office most of the time since the armistice, has resigned.

SENATE WILL PROBE EXPENSES OF WINNER

Chicago, June 12.—If either Wood or Lowden is the choice of the convention, the circumstances under which he is nominated will be investigated by the senate committee given blanket power to probe campaign expenditures and contributions.

Senator Borah declared today, and whatever "deal" was hatched at a series of conferences held at the Blackstone by other Republican leaders until an early hour this morning in an attempt to break the convention deadlock, would also be thoroughly gone into by the same committee.

Borah's announcement was made after he had conferred with Senator Kenyon chairman of the committee at the Congress hotel and the Blackstone conferences were still under way. The committee will resume its investigation in Chicago July 7 when the alleged use of Lowden money in the pre-convention Missouri campaign testified to at Washington recently, will be probed further, it was stated.

A "drive" to substitute Harding for either Wood or Lowden when the convention reconvened at 10 o'clock this morning was discussed at the Blackstone conference it was learned. It was also reported a majority of the Pennsylvania delegation was still urging Sproul as a compromise candidate although willing to swing behind Harding if required to withdraw the "moral support" it agreed to give Sproul at a caucus it held at the Blackstone last night.

A move toward Knox by the 76 Pennsylvania delegates was also talked of, although from 25 to 30 of them were said to be ready to fall in for Wood when freed from their pledges to stick by Sproul.

Flashes From Coliseum

Coliseum, Chicago, June 12.—It is reported New York delegation has decided at caucus to vote as follows: Lowden 41; Wood 24; Hoover 3; Coolidge 5; Butler 4; Johnson 3; Harding 6; Poindexter 1; Ward 1.

Chicago, June 12.—(Coliseum)—9:44 a. m.—Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, admits "It looked like Harding" this morning. He says that Indiana will continue voting as it did yesterday until it is certain that the candidate they will vote for will go over.

Senator Watson was taking part in the conferences that were going on almost all night.

Coliseum, Chicago, June 12.—10:20 a. m.—"Expert" opinion of the convention leaders today seemed to be that it would require from 8 to 12 ballots to report a decision on the presidential nomination. Yesterday the convention took four ballots in two hours—30 minutes to a ballot.

On that basis the nomination should be reached between 3 and 4 o'clock depending upon whether a recess is taken.

Coliseum, June 12.—10:10 a. m.—Lowden reports that strength will be gained from Indiana were inferentially denied by Gov. James P. Goodrich, of that delegation.

"So long as Wood is the lead we will continue to vote as we have," he said. General Wood carried the state and under our primary laws, we must stay with him so long as

COMING TO AMERICA
San Salvador, June 12.—M. Romero-Bosques, minister of war, intends to leave in the near future for the United States.

Fight Appears To Have Narrowed Down To Lowden, Wood and Harding As Balloting Continues.

RECESS AFTER EIGHTH BALLOT TILL 4 P. M.

Lowden, Wood and Harding Poll Greatest Vote On the Eighth Ballot—Recess at 1:45 Until Four O'clock.

Bulletin. Coliseum, Chicago, June 12.—1:45—Hert of Kentucky moves adjournment until four o'clock amid cries of "No." Connecticut seconded motion. Neylan of California seconded motion to recess. Cries of "recess" were heard from all parts of floor after official count announced. Willis of Ohio demands roll call on motion to recess. Willis is called to platform. Neylan of California followed. Watson also followed in party. Held conference at speaker's stand. Willis announced he would fight recess. Hitchcock told delegates his people had agreed to recess. Willis replied he had not made such agreement and would stand for it. Hitchcock and McCormick tried to get Willis back on platform. Lodge declared recess until four this afternoon. Conference on platform had ended. Willis said, "It's alright, they convinced me that our forces were willing to have the recess. I did not understand."

Coliseum, Chicago, June 12.—With Governor Lowden of Illinois jumping into the lead over the head of General Wood, and the decline of the latter, the latest balloting in the Republican Presidential convention here grew interesting also with the steady and almost phenomenal increase of Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio and the continued decline of Johnson, of California.

Tied at the sixth ballot, and with Wood leading by a half vote in the seventh, the break in the Wood forces came suddenly in the eighth, when he declined leaving Governor Lowden in the lead. Senator Harding's inflation began with the sixth ballot, and the Ohio candidate passed the one hundred mark in the seventh.

The fact that as yet none of the candidates have given up the race and thrown their strength to that of any other candidate, leaves the final outcome still in doubt at this writing, with the possibility of a dark horse looming up still strong. The advance of Harding in the recent balloting is causing encouragement among his followers, while there is still contention exist, that Knox or possibly Sproul, would receive the strength of Johnson, or some other eliminated candidate later and carry the nomination.

While General Wood showed a decline in the fifth ballot over his showing in the fourth, the last roll call taken Friday, his advance from the fifth one was steady if slow. Wood received 303 votes in the fifth ballot but in the sixth he jumped into a tie with Governor Lowden, with 311½ votes. Johnson's vote again declined in this ballot. A feature of the ballot was the break in the Michigan.

Coliseum, Chicago, June 12.—Facing a situation fraught with tremendous possibilities, the Republican national convention met again today to resume its efforts to select a presidential candidate.

Clouds of uncertainty hovered over the Coliseum and extended far up on Michigan Avenue to the conference rooms of the party leaders when the convention got under way.

A series of all night conferences, some of which did not end till a red hot dawn broke over the lake front, failed to develop anything definite so far as could be learned early today. Every conceivable proposition bearing on the Wood, Lowden, Johnson, Sproul and Harding candidacies, were broached by their supporters during these overnight conferences. They resulted in a plethora of rumors and reports of agreements, out of which it appeared that Lowden and Wood are deadlocked in the lead, each still shy more than 150 votes.

General Wood, with 314½ votes, and Governor Lowden with 289, both failed to make any material gains overnight, it is understood and it was the generally expressed opinion of party leaders today that they will go to the post in today's balloting with their situations relatively unchanged.

As a result of this weakness manifested by both the leaders, the attention turned today more and more to the runners up—particularly to Senator Harding of Ohio, who quit the balloting with 61½ votes, and Governor Sproul, of Pennsylvania, who had 79½ ballots when the adjournment came.

Both men are reported to have been "O. K'd" by Boies Penrose, the Old Guard leader, who lies sick in bed in Philadelphia and who, by private telephone and telegraph wires, keeps in as close touch with the situation as though he was beside the platform.

Whether either of these men can take away sufficient strength from Wood and Lowden, or from Hiram Johnson, with his 140½, remains to be seen in today's developments.

Senator Harding filed an eleventh hour notice in Ohio last night of his candidacy for the United States senate. This started reports that the Ohio senator had viewed the situation as hopeless and would withdraw with grace. It had been generally understood that Senator Harding's withdrawal from the presidential race was mandatory under Ohio law if he filed for a senatorship.

This, however, was denied today at Harding headquarters and by the senator himself.

"The situation is unchanged, I have not withdrawn," he said. Representatives of Wood, Lowden, Harding and Sproul candidacies visited the headquarters of Hiram Johnson during the night seeking trades or an understanding. Each of them was met with blank refusal, the Californian stating unequivocally that he would not trade, he would not withdraw and that he would go down in defeat, if necessary, with every delegate he could muster.

New York with 88 votes, Pennsylvania with 76 and Ohio with 48, could put over either Wood or Lowden if they could be mustered together. This, however, is held to be an almost hopeless ambition. New York is badly split, her 88 votes being divided among seven candidates on the fourth ballot. Helen Varick Boswell, a New York delegate who supported and seconded the nomination of Nicholas Murray Butler, declared early today that all of New York's strength would be thrown behind Lowden today, but this was discounted by other New Yorkers. There is little chance of New York getting together on any candidate, according to the views of most of them.

"The old guard," what is left of it, was in quandary today, switching about and unable to definitely decide on anything. The old guard proved by the adjournment that it was in more or less control of the parliamentary situation on the floor, but it has not shown that it can pick a man from out of the ruck and make him the 1920 candidate for president.

The advance of Harding in the recent balloting is causing encouragement among his followers, while there is still contention exist, that Knox or possibly Sproul, would received the strength of Johnson, or some other eliminated candidate later and carry the nomination.

While General Wood showed a decline in the fifth ballot over his showing in the fourth, the last roll call taken Friday, his advance from the fifth one was steady if slow. Wood received 303 votes in the fifth ballot but in the sixth he jumped into a tie with Governor Lowden, with 311½ votes. Johnson's vote again declined in this ballot. A feature of the ballot was the break in the Michigan.

Coliseum, Chicago, June 12.—Facing a situation fraught with tremendous possibilities, the Republican national convention met again today to resume its efforts to select a presidential candidate.

Clouds of uncertainty hovered over the Coliseum and extended far up on Michigan Avenue to the conference rooms of the party leaders when the convention got under way.

A series of all night conferences, some of which did not end till a red hot dawn broke over the lake front, failed to develop anything definite so far as could be learned early today. Every conceivable proposition bearing on the Wood, Lowden, Johnson, Sproul and Harding candidacies, were broached by their supporters during these overnight conferences. They resulted in a plethora of rumors and reports of agreements, out of which it appeared that Lowden and Wood are deadlocked in the lead, each still shy more than 150 votes.

General Wood, with 314½ votes, and Governor Lowden with 289, both failed to make any material gains overnight, it is understood, and it was the generally expressed opinion of party leaders today that they will go to the post in today's balloting with their situations relatively unchanged.

As a result of this weakness manifested by both the leaders, the attention turned today more and more to the runners up—particularly to Senator Harding of Ohio, who quit the balloting with 61½ votes, and Governor Sproul, of Pennsylvania, who had 79½ ballots when the adjournment came.

Both men are reported to have been "O. K'd" by Boies Penrose, the Old Guard leader, who lies sick in bed in Philadelphia and who, by private telephone and telegraph wires, keeps in as close touch with the situation as though he was beside the platform.

Whether either of these men can take away sufficient strength from Wood and Lowden, or from Hiram Johnson, with his 140½, remains to be seen in today's developments.

Senator Harding filed an eleventh hour notice in Ohio last night of his candidacy for the United States senate. This started reports that the Ohio senator had viewed the situation as hopeless and would withdraw with grace. It had been generally understood that Senator Harding's withdrawal from the presidential race was mandatory under Ohio law if he filed for a senatorship.

This, however, was denied today at Harding headquarters and by the senator himself.

"The situation is unchanged, I have not withdrawn," he said.

Representatives of Wood, Lowden, Harding and Sproul candidacies visited the headquarters of Hiram Johnson during the night seeking trades or an understanding. Each of them was met with blank refusal, the Californian stating unequivocally that he would not trade, he would not withdraw and that he would go down in defeat, if necessary, with every delegate he could muster.

New York with 88 votes, Pennsylvania with 76 and Ohio with 48, could put over either Wood or Lowden if they could be mustered together. This, however, is held to be an almost hopeless ambition. New York is badly split, her 88 votes being divided among seven candidates on the fourth ballot. Helen Varick Boswell, a New York delegate who supported and seconded the nomination of Nicholas Murray Butler, declared early today that all of New York's strength would be thrown behind Lowden today, but this was discounted by other New Yorkers. There is little chance of New York getting together on any candidate, according to the views of most of them.

"The old guard," what is left of it, was in quandary today, switching about and unable to definitely decide on anything. The old guard proved by the adjournment that it was in more or less control of the parliamentary situation on the floor, but it has not shown that it can pick a man from out of the ruck and make him the 1920 candidate for president.

The old guard leaders are frantically engaged in trying to find an open road on which to get out of this delicate situation. It is a delicate situation, so delicate that a crude movement may send Hiram Johnson and Senator Borah into the vanguard of a new political party. Above all else the party managers want to avoid a repetition of 1912.

The most generally accepted plan of the old guard leaders this morning was this:

To muster all the strength possible on the early balloting today, off both Lowden and Wood by showing them the hopelessness of their respective situations without organization support, and then get behind either Harding or Sproul. Both Harding and Sproul are acceptable to the "organization."

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

By Edith Moriarty

The ordinary trials which assail the girl away from home, job-hunting and room-hunting, have no alarms for the student at the Cleveland Kindergarten Training school. When the housing and rooming conditions in the city tightened sufficiently to make the situation uncomfortable for the students there the school opened an unused part of the building for dormitory purposes. It is the first kindergarten training school in the country to have its own dormitory, according to reports. The parents of the out of town students favor the dormitory because it affords the girls all the comforts of home without the institutional atmosphere which has been injected into the kindergarten training school life by the spreads, parties and all of the other little good times which one always associates with college dormitories.

As for job-hunting there are always more demands for kindergarten teachers than there are girls to fill the positions, according to Miss Nettie Paris, principal. Work at the school because of the breadth of the course and the co-operation with educational institutions and social organization of the great cosmopolitan city equips graduates for social work, Americanization, playground direction and work among children afflicted with speech defects, in addition to kindergarten jobs.

The accompanying photograph shows Miss Iva Fairbank of West Park, Ohio, who is a senior at the school serving tea to two undergraduates in her cozy room in the new dormitory. The other girls are Miss Helen Wade of Akron, Ohio and Miss Aileen Kimmer of Alliance, Ohio.

SUFFRAGE NEWS

Senator Hiram Johnson and Gov. William C. Sproul have pitched into the fight to force ratification of the women's suffrage amendment before the November election. It was stated at National Woman's party headquarters in Chicago the other day.

Both have decided to wire the governors of Connecticut and Vermont, urging them strongly to call special sessions of their legislatures for ratification.

Officials of the National Woman's party have their drive for ratification under full swing. They have already conferred with Johnson and Sproul and expect to see Wood and Lowden later, hoping to get from them additional support in forcing ratification. Women's party workers are canvassing delegates also, urging them to bring pressure on the states. It was said.

Both Johnson and Sproul were emphatic in their assertions that nation-wide woman's suffrage should prevail before the presidential elections the women said after their conferences. The delegation which called on them included Mrs. Lawrence Lewis of Philadelphia, Mrs. Abby Scott of Washington and Miss Doris Stevens of New York.

FRANCIS SALTUS SALTUS
June 12, 1850

Francis Saltus Saltus was an amazing character whose genius would probably have given him a lasting place in history had he not died so young.

His father was rich his mother was a musician and his grandmother was a well known poet. Saltus inherited both the money and the genius of his family. He was sent to Europe to complete his education and when he came back he took up writing as a profession. He was so brilliant that no one at school had ever tried to compete with him. Only two volumes were published during his lifetime but after his death several more came out and material was found for a book of sonnets, two of French poems, two of comic verse, two of child poems and two more of miscellaneous.

Besides this he wrote a life of Donizetti containing some 700 pages and short lives of many other musicians. He wrote as well the music for two operas "Mary Stuart" and "Joan of Arc" and the scores for several comic operas as well as any number of short pieces. In addition to this he contributed a number of short articles to the newspapers and magazines.

The phenomenon was well on his way to fame when he died. He was barely 39 years old.

EXPLAINS WORK OF BOOKS FOR EVERYBODY CAMPAIGN IN TALK

The great work to be undertaken in the "Books for Everybody" campaign, being conducted under the auspices of the American Library Association, was explained to ten members of the Board of Governors of the Greene County Public Library, by Bernig Brien, of Dayton, Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Brien is president of the Board of Trustees of the O. S. and S. O. Home, and is also a member of the Library Board of Dayton. In his address to the local Board, he explained the scope of work to be undertaken in the nation-wide $2,000,000 campaign for books.

The speaker touched upon the demand for books for the soldiers and sailors, and the necessity of literature for the promulgation of education. He especially dwelt upon the necessity of books in the Americanization campaign, and the great part, good reading and true American literature will play in Americanizing the foreigner who comes to our shores. An interesting phase of the work, will be the securing of books with raised letters for the blind, so that those who have no sight may read with their fingers.

The quota of $2,000,000 set for the entire country, is but a quota of five cents for each inhabitant, explained Mr. Brien. While the work is being carried on under the American Library Association, each state has its director, Carl Bitz, of the Cleveland Public Library, being state director of Ohio.

No intensive campaign will be carried on to secure these funds, but each library will work by quiet solicitation. The campaign will be stretched out over three years, in which time it is hoped the quota will be easily reached.

Figuring five cents to each inhabitant, the quota for Greene County will amount to about $1,500. Subscriptions may be left with the Librarian at the Greene County Library.

At this time when much thought is given to the uncertainty of the price of everything there is a great degree of satisfaction in knowing that through the use of improved machinery, by speeding production, and above all by more care in designing we are able to produce better values in Memorials than ever before. These are more expressive and are truer memorials than in the old days when the first thought was that of size and quality of material, workmanship and design of very secondary consideration. ## SMALL ARMY WAITS SUMMONS TO SECOND CHOICE AT CHICAGO

Chicago, June 12.—A small army of possible vice presidential candidates are in the background today awaiting their fate.

Before night it is expected that the Republican national convention will have chosen a man to run second of the G. O. P. ticket but the nomination for vice president will hinge on the selection made for the lead ticket. There was a wealth of vice presidential timber under discussion. Senator Harding of Ohio is being prominently mentioned for the place in the event that he fails to secure the first place prize. Governor Allen of Kansas, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, Senator Kenyon of Iowa and Governor Morrow of Kentucky all have their supporters.

Geography is expected to play a trump hand in the selection of the vice presidential candidate. The party leaders are striving to secure a running mate for the big candidate who can help swing the ticket through the doubtful states. If a western man is nominated for president it is almost certain that an eastern man will run in second place and vice versa.

Some of the party leaders are anxious to take a flier in the solid south and for this reason the name of Governor Morrow of Kentucky is being boomed as an excellent choice for second place. Judge J. C. Pritchard, of North Carolina, is being mentioned as a man who might make laudable on the Democratic vote of the south. Col. Henry W. Anderson and Samuel Adams of Virginia have offered themselves for the second place on the ticket.

Oregon will place the name of Senator Lodge before the convention for vice president in accordance with results in the Oregon state primaries but it is not expected that this action will be taken seriously.

Senator Edge of New Jersey is willing to trail along with any presidential nominee.

Senator Pinchot of Washington, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania are all still in the race for the first honors but their friends are moving to place their names before the convention as vice presidential candidates.

UNITED STATES WEATHER BUREAU IN COOPERATION WITH OHIO CROP REPORTING SERVICE

The week was generally favorable to field work and good progress was made. During the first half of the week light to moderate showers occurred in most sections accompanied by nearly normal temperature, making conditions very favorable to plant growth but the latter part of the week was a little too cool for the best growth. More rain is now greatly needed in some spots and a warm, general rain would be beneficial to all crops, especially to meadows and pastures, and late-sown crops.

Early planted corn showing good stand. Cultivation well under way. Some are still plowing and planting and a few replanting.

Winter wheat heading out but short. Some complaint of damage from fly and joint worm.

Early-sown oats now looking much better while the late-sown are not progressing so well.

Barley is fair to good and improving.

Rye is heading out and condition fair to good, but short in straw.

Hay is short, thin on ground, and weedy.

Fruit prospects the best for several years.

Showers the early part of the week helped pastures some, but it is still short and needs warm rains badly.

Potatoes are progressing well.

Field planting of tobacco just beginning.

Condition of sugar beets is good. Thinning begun.

SIX CANDIDATES ARE IN RACE FOR COUNTY TREASURER, REPORT

Six candidates have tossed their hats into the ring for the Republican nomination for county treasurer. J. F. Harshman of this city, former county commissioner, and Joseph T. Hutchison, of the Fairground road, are to last candidates. Their declarations were filed with the board of elections late Thursday evening.

The candidates for that office who have filed their declarations are: John C. Vay, present deputy treasurer; C. S. McDaniel, and Frank A. Jackson, of Xenia; C. H. Ellis, of Yellow Springs; J. F. Harshman and J. T. Hutchison.

J. P. Shumaker, of the city, formally entered the race for nomination for county surveyor against W. J. Davis, the incumbent, when he filed his declaration Tuesday evening. ## SMALL ARMY WAITS SUMMONS TO SECOND CHOICE AT CHICAGO

Chicago, June 12.—A small army of possible vice presidential candidates are in the background today awaiting their fate.

Before night it is expected that the Republican national convention will have chosen a man to run second of the G. O. P. ticket but the nomination for vice president will hinge on the selection made for the lead ticket. There was a wealth of vice presidential timber under discussion.

Senator Harding of Ohio is being prominently mentioned for the place in the event that he fails to secure the first place prize. Governor Allen of Kansas, Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, Senator Kenyon of Iowa and Governor Morrow of Kentucky all have their supporters.

Geography is expected to play a trump hand in the selection of the vice presidential candidate. The party leaders are striving to secure a running mate for the big candidate who can help swing the ticket through the doubtful states. If a western man is nominated for president it is almost certain that an eastern man will run in second place and vice versa.

Some of the party leaders are anxious to take a flier in the solid south and for this reason the name of Governor Morrow of Kentucky is being boomed as an excellent choice for second place. Judge J. C. Pritchard, of North Carolina, is being mentioned as a man who might make inroads on the Democratic vote of the south. Col. Henry W. Anderson and Samuel Adams of Virginia have offered themselves for the second place on the ticket.

Oregon will place the name of Senator Lodge before the convention for vice president in accordance with results in the Oregon state primaries but it is not expected that this action will be taken seriously.

Senator Edge of New Jersey is willing to trail along with any presidential nominee.

Senator Polindexter of Washington, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler and Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania are all still in the race for the first honors but their friends are moving to place their names before the convention as vice presidential candidates.

MARKET AND FINANCIAL NEWS

UNITED STATES WEATHER BUREAU IN COOPERATION WITH OHIO CROP REPORTING SERVICE

The week was generally favorable to field work and good progress was made. During the first half of the week light to moderate showers occurred in most sections accompanied by nearly normal temperature, making conditions very favorable to plant growth but the latter part of the week was a little too cool for the best growth. More rain is now greatly needed in some sections and a warm, general rain would be beneficial to all crops, especially to meadows and pastures, and late-sown crops.

Early planted corn showing good stand. Cultivation well under way. Some are still plowing and planting and a few replanting.

Winter wheat heading out but short. Some complaint of damage from fly and joint worm.

Early-sown oats now looking much better while the late-sown are not progressing so well.

Barley is fair to good and improving.

Rye is heading out and condition fair to good, but short in straw.

Hay is short, thin on ground, and weedy.

Fruit prospects the best for several years.

Showers the early part of the week helped pastures some, but it is still short and needs warm rains badly.

Potatoes are progressing well. Field planting of tobacco just beginning.

Condition of sugar beets is good. Thinning begun.

HOW THE BITTER-END IRRECONCILABLES WON ON THE LEAGUE MATTER.

The Republican party will enter the 1920 campaign without being committed to the League of Nations.

The long discussion of the league matter came to a sudden end early Thursday morning when the leaders were worn physically and mentally. It came when a split seemed to be almost inevitable. The subcommittee had wrestled with the problem for hours, and adjourned without reaching an agreement. At 2 o'clock Thursday morning Senators Reed, Smoot, Lodge, Frank E. Brandegee, McCormick, James E. Watson, Chairman Hays and three or four others met and at 5 o'clock an agreement, termed by the Borah-Johnson element as a victory for it, and by the "reservationists" and other groups as a "compromise," was reached.

It is understood that Senator Lodge paved the way for the agreement by acquiescing and by stating that he would not insist on a declaration for a League of Nations with the Lodge reservations. His final decision seemed to be a withdrawal from the stand that he took throughout the long Senate debate, in which he assured the country that he favored a league with proper reservations.

Senator Lodge is said to have agreed to the compromise on the ground that it permitted the party to follow the "line of least resistance," but this is not a courageous course.

It is to Senator McCormick that the well-posted politicians give the credit for the victory and not to Borah. As for Lodge, because of his retreat from his position of a defender of the principle of the league with reservations, he is considered as having fallen down.

THE VILLAGE BAND.

From the Ohio State Journal:—The man whose boyhood years brought no opportunity for membership in the village band missed a real experience and a world of fun. There is no other experience, in all that comes to boy or man, like it; no other supplies what it brings. It comes at a time when youthful ardor spurs the individual to the hardest work where there is least reward in substantial things. But it is not profit, it is glory for which the youngster in the band seeks. The appeal to effort is supplied by the glamour that surrounds the task. The spotlight makes an appeal, quite as certain and irresistible to the lad in the village as to the prima donna.

How the heart of Young America swells when the new brass horn is first his! Later, when the bands gets new instruments, all brightly silver-plated, another new swelling of the heart is experienced. Then when the uniforms are secured, when the band makes its appearance at some gathering of more than local prominence, then the cup of joy is filled. With what eagerness do the members tramp along the streets on a long march, no matter how rough may be the streets or how the sun may blister! If they lead the parade, if the streets are filled with wide-eyed, wondering boys and girls, then the cup of the member of the village band is filled to the brim.

To the youngster who gets in it is a never-to-be-forgotten event. It marks the time he steps away from the things pertaining to boyhood and takes part with men in the important affairs of life. It is a great experience to those who have had a share in it. It is in the heart of every live boy to be a member of the band. He is richer in pleasant memories and better in his knowledge of the world if he realized his ambition.

SCHOOL CHILDREN GARNER $37,813 IN ST. LOUIS PAPER-SAVING PLAN.

By Joshua W. Alexander, Secretary of Commerce:—I have recently made several appeals, urging the saving of waste paper. In the schools of St. Louis that is rapidly assuming the aspects of a "big business," and it is expected that more than $15,000 will be secured before the close of the schools in June.

That movement had its inception several years ago. Its purpose was to have the pupils bring old papers, books and magazines to the school to be turned over to firms dealing in waste paper. The proceeds were to go to the Teachers' Benevolent Association for paying annuities to members who retire after long service and for relief to members in need.

Increased interest was given the movement because of growing scarcity of white paper and the importance of aiding conservation of the supply. More than 100,000 pupils in 135 schools now participate. They save old newspapers and magazines and once a week bring them to school, where they are later gathered.

To stimulate interest some schools instituted contests with one room pitted against another. In 1919 the schools collected 901 tons. Since the schools opened last September they have collected 566 tons, of which 513 tons were newspapers and fifty-three tons magazines. Prices are as follows: One dollar and twenty-five cents per hundred pounds for newspapers and $2.75 per hundred for magazines. Since the start of the paper-saving movement a grand total of $37,813.34 has been realized.

What St. Louis is doing can be done by any other city. Think what it would mean to the paper situation if our cities would contribute their quota of waste paper, and think how much money could be earned for some worthy cause.

The Department of Commerce has on hand a number of publications on waste reclamation it will be glad to send interested persons.

HINTS FOR

A correspondent who is reducing, and who writes me and tells me her progress from week to week, made the following excellent suggestion:—

Rhubarb is not fattening—unless, of course, it is stewed up with a great deal of sugar; in that case, the sugar tends to add weight. So my friend is going to put up a lot of rhubarb by the cold water method; cutting up the stalks, putting them in jars full of clear pure cold water, screwing up tightly and setting in her preserve closet for the winter. She can make herself fruit desserts then by cooking the rhubarb with a little sugar or else with saccharine for sweetening. "But I expect to be almost thin enough by winter," she adds. "I sometimes yield to temptation and eat all the things I shouldn't, but I am losing about a pound and a half a week, and am already within 40 pounds of what I should weigh."

Of course, oranges and grapefruit can be had all winter long; and lettuce, which can be eaten in great quantities, can also be had in the winter. But most canned fruits have sugar, and as a result are apt to add to one's weight. Of course, the answer is that the woman who is going to reduce, can put up the sort of fruits which require a minimum of sweetening—canned pears instead of spiced, for instance, and canned berries, instead of jams—for her winter desserts.

But the easiest time to reduce is the summer time. Foods naturally contain less starch and fat then, and a woman is more apt to be outdoors and exercising.

May Flower—You have done very well to lose 10 pounds in the first two months you started reducing. Sometimes it takes several weeks for the system to accustom itself to the new regime. You should lose faster if you keep up the proper sort of diet. Do not worry because the bust still seems large; when you weigh what you should the bust will probably have reduced more nearly to the correct proportions.

Inquisitive—All stretching and bending exercises tend to improve the height, if one is unnaturally small. Foods have something to do with height too, did you know that? Many of the stunted children among the very poor are so because their food has not been properly nourishing.

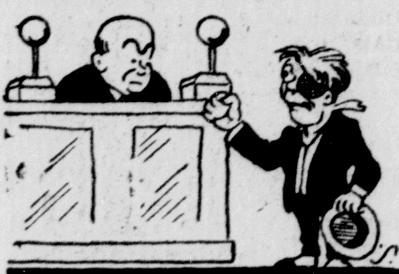

Sunshine—You describe a very attractive girl. A large hand with tapering fingers is considered more artistic than a small plump hand.

Boodile—A girl 5 feet 5 inches, aged 15, should weigh from 120 to 125 pounds.

GIVEN SENTENCE FOR ALLEGED THEFT OF WEARING APPAREL

When David Carter, student at Wilberforce university, saw the blue serge suit which was stolen from his room in O'Neal Hall June 3, walking around the campus gracing the person of one Oscar Robinson Friday evening, he notified Sheriff Funderburg.

At 5 o'clock Saturday morning, Magistrate J. E. Jones was called

"Come now," said the magistrate, "you don't really believe he meant to put your eye out?"

"No, I don't," said the Celt, "but I do believe he tried to put it farther in."

"Lillian," said mother, severely, "there were two pieces of cake in the pantry this morning and now there is only one. How does this happen?"

"I don't know," replied Lillian, regretfully. "It must have been so dark that I didn't see the other piece."

So many are taking up Spanish nowadays—"in a serious way," as a teacher put it—that the woman was much interested in hearing her fellow bus riders—two young women—discuss the matter.

"Yes," said the pretty one, "I thought that Spanish would help me in my work so I decided to join the class that was being formed in the office. But I'm sure that I shall never, never be able to learn the language!"

"Why not?" asked her plain companion.

"Oh, I find it altogether too hard!"

"How long have you been studying it?"

"We began last night."

"Mummy, what are you going to give me for my birthday?"

"Oh, anything to keep you quiet."

"Well, I don't think anything will keep me quiet except a drum!"

PLACING THE BLAME.

Of all wild times these are the worst; our divers goats we lose; and sages with an aching thirst blame things to lack of booze. The honest toiler can't get stewed when his day's work is o'er, and so he strikes, in bitter mood, and jumps the useful chore. If he continues at his task, though angry, sad and dry, oh, what, the thirsty sages ask, will that man's wages buy? He cannot buy a crate of gin nor purchase beer or ale; then why toil on for useless tin? And what's the use of kale? He cannot seek the Gilded Hole where large glass schooners clank; he simply has to take his roll, and put it in the bank. He has to buy a house and lot, or get his children duds; for in the village there's no spot where he can purchase suds. He has to spend for useful things the toil-stained, hard-earned sum that he would gladly see take wings where reigned the Demon Rum. Then who can wonder that he spurns the job with wages fine, when he can't buy, with all he earns, a flagon or a stein?

BOUTS AT RINK DRAW BIG CROWD

Young Webb, of Dayton, was given the decision over Joe Reiley of Cincinnati, in the main mill of a three bout card, at the Rink Friday evening, that was the best offering ever staged here by the Xenia Athletic Club.

All three bouts had the interest of the fans, although the semi-windup, between Battling Davis of Dayton and Eddie McDonald of Cincinnati, came to a sudden close, when Davis whipped a right cross to McDonald's Donald's left jaw, sending the Cincinnati boy to the mat for the count.

The preliminary between Kid Moran and Joe Haley, both Dayton flyweights, was also good, the kids being full of pep and on their toes all the time. Referee Donohue of Cincinnati, gave the little fellows a draw, and the six round go was loudly applauded by the fans.

While Webb outpointed Reiley in practically every round of their ten round mill, the resistance and nerve of the Cincinnati boxer won the admiration of the fans, and considerable credit was given him for the strenuous milling he took from Webb. The latter was in good shape practically all the way and was trying hard to land a knockout punch.

Over three hundred people witnessed the bouts and the bugs were highly pleased with the exhibition. A number of out of town fans were present for the battles prominent among them being fans from Blauvelt, Webb's former home.

HOW THE BITTER-END IRRECONCILABLES WON ON THE LEAGUE MATTER.

The Republican party will enter the 1920 campaign without being committed to the League of Nations.

The long discussion of the league matter came to a sudden end early Thursday morning when the leaders were worn physically and mentally. It came when a split seemed to be almost inevitable. The subcommittee had wrestled with the problem for hours, and adjourned without reaching an agreement. At 2 o'clock Thursday morning Senators Reed, Smoot, Lodge, Frank E. Brandegee, McCormick, James E. Watson, Chairman Hays and three or four others met and at 5 o'clock an agreement, termed by the Borah-Johnson element as a victory for it, and by the "reservationists" and other groups as a "compromise," was reached.

It is understood that Senator Lodge paved the way for the agreement by acquiescing and by stating that he would not insist on a declaration for a League of Nations with the Lodge reservations. His final decision seemed to be a withdrawal from the stand that he took throughout the long Senate debate, in which he assured the country that he favored a league with proper reservations.

Senator Lodge is said to have agreed to the compromise on the ground that it permitted the party to follow the "line of least resistance," but this is not a courageous course.

Mary Elizabeth Sturgeon, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Sturgeon, was born July 21, 1912, died March 22, 1920, at Jamestown, Ohio, aged 7 years, 8 months and 1 day. Little Mary died with the membranous croup; sick such a short time. We hardly realized she was to be taken so soon. She was a loving and dear little girl. She spoke of her dying and going to heaven. Her words that she spoke were so loving and kind. One would scarcely think of her talking so sweet, as she was so young. She called the family in and kissed them goodbye and told them she was going to leave them forever. How sad to part with all the little

GIVES APPRECIATION

Editor of Gazette
On the eve of the departure of Xenia Seminary to its new field, it is fitting that the pastors, churches and citizens of the city know the action taken by the faculty and managers. In the annual report to the managers the faculty said:

"We can not close this report without leaving on record our appreciation of the kindness and helpfulness of the pastors and people of the two United Presbyterian churches of Xenia, and indeed all the churches of the city and community. Only what seems to be the leading of God could make us satisfied to leave a people so loyal to God and so true to friends as are the people of Xenia."

The managers took similar action, recognizing the kindness of the pastors and people of all the churches and the good will of all the citizens of Xenia and the community.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.
Creamed Eggs on Toast—Three hard boiled eggs, chopped. Make a white sauce with one pound margarine, one pound flour, one and one-half cups milk, salt and pepper. Add chopped eggs to sauce and serve on toast. Much more nourishing than plain eggs.

Peanut Butter Cookies—Cream together two cups sugar, three-quarters cup peanut butter, add one-half teaspoon salt and two well beaten eggs. Add three-quarters cup milk and five cups flour alternately and two teaspoons baking powder. Bake in moderate oven.

Tomato Jelly—Two tablespoons gelatin soaked in one-half cup cold water. Dissolve in two cups boiling tomato juice (strained) and seasoned. Put in molds. Serve with French or any kind of dressing. This uses up remainder of can of tomatoes opened for lunch and can be eaten with safety by children.

Jelly Roll—Three well beaten eggs, four tablespoons water, one cup sugar, one cup flour. Beat eggs and sugar, add water and flour. Bake in moderate oven and spread with Jelly and roll.

USES FOR STALE BREAD.

Everybody knows bread pudding without preliminary introductions, but there are many other ways in which stale bread may be used as well. It may be used in the batter in making griddle cakes or, if finely crumbled, it may be used in bread sponge.

One-fourth bread crumbs to three-fourths flour makes a delicious muffin mixture. Bread crumbs are always of use for scalloped dishes, for fruit puddings such as apple Betty, for crumbing chops, cutlets, oysters or croquettes of any kind. Browned crumbs may be used to advantage in ice cream. Croutons to be eaten with soup are made out of stale bread.

One of the best things to do with rolls, biscuits, slices of toast or bread, cookies or doughnuts when they have become hard and dry is to dampen them and put them in the oven until they are heated through. So treated they are delicious.

NO SUGAR? USE HONEY.

Honey Salad Dressing—Four egg yolks, two tablespoons lemon juice, two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons honey, one teaspoon mustard, one cup cream, one teaspoon salt, paprika to taste.

Heat the cream in a double boiler. Beat the eggs, and add to them all the other ingredients but the cream. Pour the cream slowly over the mixture, beating constantly. Pour it into the double boiler and cook until it thickens.

As the dressing is needed combine this mixture with whipped cream. Particularly suitable for fruit salads.

Honey Icing—Four tablespoons strained honey, white of one egg, lemon flavor. Cook the honey until a ball is formed when dropped into cold water. Pour into the beaten egg white and whip until cool. Add flavoring.

ALONE IN CHICAGO

Chapter 36.

During all that long, lonely journey, I planned and thought of what I would do when I reached Chicago. I had cut myself off from everyone who knew me. I had written Mother a short note while waiting for my train not going into details, but simply saying that I felt I could do better away from New York—away from the people whom I had known. I had never written her of taking the position with Mrs. Rush. I felt it would almost break her heart to know I had done such a thing as take a servant's place.

Yet as I counted what remained of my wages I knew well that had I done anything else I would not have had as much to show for my work. In addition I had had good nourishing food the comfort of a bathroom and a good comfortable sleeping room. I had not spent one cent save for paper and postage to write mother.

Arrived in Chicago, I felt rather bewildered, terribly alone, and something very like panic seized me as I thought of the future.

I had bought a paper as soon as I reached the depot and in the rest room I scanned its columns for a place to live. That must be my first task.

I had no idea of the streets in Chicago so was ignorant as to location. Finally I saw the matron looking inquiringly at me and I mustered up courage to ask her:

"Would you tell me if this place is a respectable neighborhood?"

She sat down beside me and taking the paper from my hand, she selected a few places which she said she thought were all right.

"But perhaps the prices may not suit you," she looked at my clothes—everyone seemed to make my clothes the standard by which they judged me. "Yet you look as if you can afford a fair price."

"But I must find a very cheap place—until I find work," I told her.

"Ah"—then "let me see the paper again." She evidently had selected places I could not afford. For she now marked two or three others in a different locality as she explained but one easily reached by the street cars.

"If you find nothing to suit you, come back here, I will see you are taken care of for the night. Leave your bags. I'll check them for you. Now hurry. It takes time to hunt homes in Chicago."

I left her feeling I had found a friend. I had heard and read of these kind women who watched the stations for girls who had no friends to meet them. She had told me to come back if I found nothing. I really felt light-hearted considering when I started out to find a room.

It was Saturday. The business streets, canyons in cliffs of stone and mortar, lay hot in the early Springtime sun. It was one of those oppressive days that occasionally come the first of May, a day like those we expect in August, but under which we wilt and perspire when it comes so early in the season. I sought the shady side of the street as I tramped the bare concrete to the corner where I was to take the car.

As I stood there waiting for a car, there was a certain bitterness in my mind. It had suddenly swept over me—I, Zena Stewart the petted child of loving parents, was as alone as if I were on a desert the only living thing marooned there. I took out the piece of paper upon which the matron had written the name of the street I should watch for on the car. One was approaching. I had not seen a man come up behind me. His voice startled me:

"Can I help you find your way?"

"No thank you, I have directions." You came in on the train from New York just now," he simply stated the fact. I nodded, and for the first time looked at him. What I saw did not tend to make me wish to prolong the conversation. He was a tall, fairly well dressed man, with shifty eyes and a pesty complexion. I had made no reply so he went on:

"I judge you haven't any friends—I saw you talking to the matron. I wouldn't think too much of the place she sends you. These matrons stand in with the police and the people who run the houses. I'll give you the address of a really respectable boarding house. You can look there and if you like it, take a room." He scribbled something on a card and thrust it into my hand just as my car came along.

On the eve of the departure of Xenia Seminary to its new field, it is fitting that the pastors, churches and citizens of the city know the action taken by the faculty and managers. In the annual report to the managers the faculty said:

Only what seems to be the leading of God could make us satisfied to leave a people so loyal to God and so true to friends as are the people of Xenia."

The managers took similar action, recognizing the kindness of the pastors and people of all the churches and the good will of all the citizens of Xenia and the community.

CARRIES GOPHER IN POCKET AS A PET

Edward Sotts, of this city, has a unique pet.
Peeping from the dark recesses of his trousers pocket, at almost any time, may be seen the rodent-like nose, the beady black eyes, and the prettily striped fur of a gopher.
The little animal, still a baby, was captured by Sotts several days ago, and he is keeping it as a pet, carrying it about much of the time in his pocket. This is the second gopher that he has made a pet of. Last summer he had one of the little animals, that learned to know him so well, that it would follow him like a dog.
Although in strange territory, the little gopher is fast acquainting himself to his new domicile, and seems to be prospering in his foster home.
